DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 8-12, 15-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Olson et al. The patent to Olson et al teaches structure as claimed including a shelf (22) , comprising a metal tube body (26), a frame, a liner (30), a sleeve (24), the metal tube body is flute-shaped, a plurality of dents, holes, or protrudings is formed on the metal tube body in a predetermined arrangement, the liner is sandwiched between the sleeve and the metal tube body, the frame is fixed on the sleeve, the frame is supported on the metal tube body.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.

2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 6, 13, 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson et al in as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Thomas. The patent to Olson et al teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including a plurality of structures on a front and back surface of the tube body arranged in a pattern, the only difference being that the pattern is not in an alternating pattern between the front and back surfaces.. However, the patent to Thomas teaches the use of providing alternating and different patterns to provide an engaging structure to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Olson et al to include the engagement structures in different patterns, as taught by Thomas since such structures are conventional alternative structures used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Claims 7, 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Olson et al as applied to the claims above, and further in view of Kolvites et al. The patent to Olson et al teaches structure substantially as claimed as discussed above including a tube body, the only difference being that there is not a mark on the body to provide for adjustment. However, the patent to Kolvites et al teaches the use of providing a mark (fig. 2) to be old. It would have been obvious and well within the level of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to modify the structure of Kolvites et al to include a mark on the tube member, as taught by Kolvites et al since such structure is used in the same intended purpose, thereby providing structure as claimed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Friedman et al, Maslow, Pollack, Welz, Chen teach structure similar to applicant's.
